

CV of Failures (Ongoing)

About

To quote the original article <sup>1</sup>:

As scientists, we construct a narrative of success that renders our setbacks invisible both to ourselves and to others. Often, other scientists' careers seem to be a constant, streamlined series of triumphs. Therefore, whenever we experience an individual failure, we feel alone and dejected. [...] So here is my suggestion. Compile an 'alternative' CV of failures. Log every unsuccessful application, refused grant proposal and rejected paper.

I like this idea and would like to contribute. I've organized it by academic periods in my life.

High School

Morristown High School, Morristown, NJ

Fall 2006 - Spring 2010

- I missed National Merit Scholar.
- I applied to and was rejected from: Cornell, Princeton, Duke, Brown, Columbia and didn't even bother applying to the other top schools.

Undergrad

Rutgers University, New Brunswick, NJ

Fall 2010 - Spring 2014

- I applied to 14 summer REU's and was rejected from 12 of them.
- I failed to earn a single point on the Putnam Exam.
- I got a  $\approx 650$  on the GRE Math Subject Test and was too embarrassed to send it to schools.
- For graduate school I applied to and was rejected from: NYU CS PhD, UPenn CS PhD, Brown CS PhD, Duke CS PhD (wait-list) and was didn't even bother applying to top schools like MIT, Stanford, or Cornell. Columbia accepted me off the wait-list.

Grad School

Columbia University, New York, NY

Fall 2014 - Spring 2019

- I was rejected from NSF GRFP.
- I applied to the George Nicholson Student Paper competition thrice and a slew of other INFORMS paper competitions and lost almost all of them.
- Multiple rejections at EC and OR.
- Prior to going on the academic market I wasn't invited to the doctoral consortium or any sort of young-up-and-coming-scholars workshop.

Job Market Interlude

- Of the 12 schools that interviewed me in person at INFORMS, not a single one invited me for a fly-out (oof).
- I applied to 40+ domestic business and engineering schools and received 40+ rejections.
